UNIFOR UNILINK

October 8, 2026

Unifor Women's Conference, Howe Sound mill saved, national forestry day of action, Saint-Gobain solidarity, RYAM mill closure, pushing back on C-39, Québec elections, union-busting at Great Canadian sites, pay equity fight, Victoria transit job action, Terra Nova sale, Hotel Vancouver strike vote, rail bargaining, and Stellantis strike votes.

WHAT'S HOT

TAKE ACTION

A agreement between the BC government and Domtar will help the Howe Sound pulp mill re-open, saving Local 1119 jobs.

READ MORE

Support forestry workers by participating in a national day of action event near you.

READ MORE

IN THE NEWS

Resist. Rise. Reimagine. Nearly 400 sisters and siblings gathered this week for the Unifor national Women's Conference.

READ MORE

Unifor held a day of action this week to support Local 12 members at Saint-

More than 300 Unifor members are off the job following the production shutdown

Gobain in Plattsville, Ont., who have been on strike since July.

VIEW PHOTOS

at RYAM's Témiscaming mill.

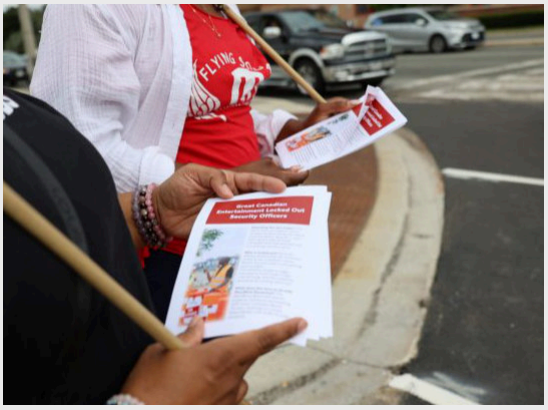
READ MORE

Lana Payne and Daniel Cloutier write to the federal jobs Minister with profound concerns about Bill C-39's attack on collective bargaining and the right to strike.

READ MORE

Unifor Quebec calls on the newly elected government to protect manufacturing and forestry jobs and respect workers' rights.

READ MORE



Great Canadian Entertainment is escalating its union-busting attempts by hiring scab workers at Pickering, Ajax and Toronto Resort Casinos.

READ MORE

Unifor met with the Pay Equity Commissioner to urge her to stop pay equity delays so women can be paid what they have earned.

READ MORE

Local 333-BC members in Greater Victoria have resumed their overtime ban and are calling for public funding to keep buses moving.

READ MORE

Unifor expects contract negotiations to continue at Terra Nova platform as Suncor sells offshore stake.

READ MORE

BARGAINING UPDATES

Local 114 members at the Fairmont Hotel Vancouver voted this week on a strike mandate for their bargaining committee.

READ MORE

Unifor opens bargaining with Toronto Terminals Railway focused on members' priorities for a new collective agreement.

READ MORE

Unifor is moving to hold strike authorization votes as negotiations with Stellantis remain at an impasse.

READ MORE