

November 8, 2018

US imposed tariffs spark lobbying efforts, Labour Code reforms better protect workers' rights and an unwelcome decision to split maintenance work at the Halifax Shipyard. Meanwhile, members shape the future of our union and the conversation on a Just Transition moves forward.

 WHAT'S HOT

Delegates from aluminum sector meet

 TAKE ACTION

Register for the Canadian Association of

with MPs to urge action on the 10 per cent tariff imposed by the United States.

READ MORE

Labour Media's one-day conference slated for November 30 in Saskatoon.

READ MORE

IN THE NEWS

As Ontario's government levels its first major attack on workers with Bill 47, members fight back for their rights.

READ MORE

Federal government's decision to divide maintenance work on Halifax-class ships to negatively impact shipyard jobs.

READ MORE

A pay equity challenge in a group of Ontario nursing homes goes to tribunal, with implications for Unifor members in the sector.

READ MORE

Unifor sponsors third annual Alberta conference, hosted by Blue-Green Canada, to advance dialogue on Just Transition.

READ MORE

Unifor welcomes Canada's Labour Code reforms that offer wage protections to airport workers facing contract flipping.

READ MORE

BARGAINING UPDATES

Bargaining underway in Calgary between Local 101R, representing 1200 workers from BC to Quebec, and Canadian Pacific.

READ MORE

Local 7575 members at Courtyard by Marriott make significant gains, including wage increases and improved pensions.

READ MORE

Hotel-Dieu Grace health care workers in service and skilled trades make strong gains in new agreement.

READ MORE

 IN CASE YOU MISSED IT

 RESOURCES

The first of many regional political action meetings kicked off yesterday in London. See photos from the evening here.

READ MORE

Watch this video on how aluminium tariffs stand to harm more than 10,000 families in Canada.

READ MORE

