

unILINK

October 11, 2018

In this week's issue, we hear about efforts to protect media sector jobs and local journalism, plus an update on what happens next with pharmacare, and more organizing success stories as we welcome new members from coast to coast to coast and make gains at the bargaining table.

WHAT'S HOT

TAKE ACTION

Hear from Jenny Yuen, Unifor member and news reporter at the Toronto Sun, why we must #SaveLocalNews.

READ MORE

Support Ontario's $15 minimum wage and decent work from across Canada – participate in this Provincial Day of Action.

READ MORE

IN THE NEWS

Ships Stay Here campaign launches to keep work in Halifax, amidst threats to move repair work out of province.

READ MORE

Federal government's Advisory Council wraps up three-month long online consultation on implementing national pharmacare.

READ MORE

Unifor supports Oxfam and Save the Children's disaster relief efforts in Indonesia with a combined $70,000 donation.

READ MORE

BARGAINING UPDATES

Local 100, representing 2100 workers across Canada begins bargaining with CN in Montreal, seeking wage and benefit gains.

READ MORE

Local 7575 members at Hyatt Regency ratify a new collective agreement that includes major economic gains and good jobs.

READ MORE

Nearly 100 airport security screeners at Regina GardaWorld, new members at Local 1S, ratify a new collective agreement.

READ MORE

IN CASE YOU MISSED IT

Activists join Local 2458 at a rally to protest layoffs at Chatham's Copper Terrace Nursing Home – see photos here.

READ MORE

RESOURCES

Need a mentor? Use this application form to sign up for the Local Union Mentoring Program.

READ MORE

