

July 8, 2021

Unifor is the union for warehouse workers, support EI reform, privacy commissioner slams Regina police, Nova Scotia healthcare workers reach a deal, Reliance workers ratify new collective agreement after 49-day lockout, Unifor asked to help develop new regulations for B.C. container trucking industry, Unifor members wear orange for reconciliation, stay safe working in the heat.

 WHAT'S HOT

 TAKE ACTION

Unifor members wore orange on Canada Day and turned anger into action to demand the federal government ensure Indigenous communities have the resources to find answers about missing children.

WATCH VIDEO

Employment Insurance is no longer meeting the needs of working people. The pandemic has made that clear. Sign the petition to get the EI system Canada needs to build back better.

READ MORE

IN THE NEWS

Unifor is the union for warehouse workers. Watch as warehousing and distribution workers share what it is like to unionize their workplace. Better wages, seniority, fairness and respect are just some of the benefits of joining Unifor.

WATCH VIDEO

Regina Police Service was slammed by Saskatchewan's privacy commissioner for

A tentative deal was reached for withholding documents in an information request about the Unifor Local 594 lockout last year.

READ MORE

more than 7,500 health care workers across Nova Scotia.

READ MORE

Members of Unifor Local 1999 have voted to ratify a new collective agreement that ended the 49-day lockout by Reliance Home Comfort.

READ MORE

B.C.'s Minister of Transportation has asked Unifor to be involved in the development of new regulations for the container trucking industry.

READ MORE

Unifor Local 195 members in Windsor voted 90% in favour of a new collective agreement with Kautex Textron that brings significant gains to members who supply auto parts.

READ MORE

Lack of a bargaining mandate by the Nova Scotia government brings Unifor and Northwood long-term care facility contract talks to a halt.

READ MORE

 IN CASE YOU MISSED IT

 RESOURCES

Canada needs anti-scab legislation, federally and in most provinces. Even where provinces that have some form of anti-scab legislation, it could use significant improvements.

READ MORE

With extreme heat warnings coming across the country, remember to stay safe and work safe – especially outdoors. Unifor's Heat Stress Fact Sheet can help keep you and your co-workers safe.

READ MORE